

Against the widespread image of an actor with the mask, while stepping in a stage he should first throw the mask away. In other way the strong feeling of the existence (katharsis) is flying away after the crash with the abstract and put far away from reality imagination of "Jestem" ("I am"). One swallow doesn't make a summer, and a few bonny sausages wouldn't prepare moving story about women.