

The title of the "Open Drawing Workshop" determined the style of work. It was open for all comers – people of all skill levels could participate in classes. The leader of the workshop – Tadeusz Piotrowski is an open-minded, patient person who has an answer for every question that rankle the audience. During the workshop he told some interesting facts about Rembrandt and Leonardo Da Vinci drawing techniques. He also explained how to cut the feather to make it useful in the process of creating the picture.
